One day, me and my family decided to move to this new town. This university was gigantic. I was so happy to be able to get through those door I've dreamed about when I was a kid. I was now in the university, I had to find my english class, I had been walking for a while but I thought I found it.

When I entered the class, there was spiders, cobwebs and a dusty old clock in front of me. I turned the hand of the clock a lot of time, a hundred time, maybe even a thousand time. the room started changing into a sort of bathroom. I went out and it was a restaurant. I saw flying cars through the windows. after a while, a rich man entered the restaurant. I asked him what was his name and, surprisingly, he had the same name as me. Everybody was saying that he became rich because of youtube. When I told him my name, he was confused. He talked to his home, and told me we were the same person, he showed me a clock and said to turned the hand the opposite way when I did, I was back at my university.

I told this story to my friends but they didn't believe me. So I kepted this story to myself

End !!
